Close your eyes and envision your ideal community: What does it look like? What do you see? What can you touch? How do you feel?

In your vision for an ideal community, did you see prisons? People getting arrested and incarcerated? Armed law enforcement and police? If not, how can we get our society to the vision that you had?

After reading the 50+ Action Items article, which items, if any, would you select to create a more equitable community?

Other thoughts:

What was your 'a-ha' moment (moment of surprise or new information)?

What was your 'hurt' moment (feeling of discomfort)?

What will you do differently?
